TAXPAYER'S LEAGUE TO SPONSOR CAMPAIGN FOR RETENTION OF SALE TAX

Group Fears Return Of Excessive Property Taxes In State

Centering its attention on the influences that are threatening repeal of the state sales tax, the Taxpayers' League of Washington Township this week began to muster its forces for an intensive campaign for the retention of the tax, according to word received Monday from George C. Roeding, league president.

The group will call a general meeting in the near future, at which time competent speakers will be obtained to outline the nature of the opposition.

Composed of property owners of this district, upon whom the entire burden of taxation fell previous to the adoption of the sales tax, the Taxpayers' League is militantly in favor of its retention. It was in great part due to the work of taxpayers leagues throughout the state that the sales tax was finally adopted, and members of these organizations are loathe to see their work undone.

It is the contention of many state officials, that in addition to having kept the state solvent during the past year, the sales tax has done much to widen the public interest in the expenditures of the different departments. Officials say that the sales tax is an excellent method of promoting "tax consciousness" in a large part of the population who previous to its adoption, derived benefit from state works without contributing to support of the state government.

CLEVER SHOWER IS GIVEN NEWARK GIRL FRIDAY

Miss Myrtle Sayles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Sayles, of Newark, was honored at a kitchen shower Friday evening by the members of the Alvarado Rebekah lodge. The affair was held in the Odd Fellows hall in Alvarado.

Miss Sayles, who is a graduate of the Washington Union high school, will be married to Palmer Lund, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lund, of Hayward, on September 29. The ceremony will take place at the Newark Presbyterian church.

Following the wedding, the couple will make their home in Sacramento, where Lund is employed. Miss Sayles is a member of the staff at the Newark post office.

Invited guests at the affair Friday night were: Mrs. John Logan, Mrs. George Harvey, Mrs. W. Emery, Mrs. Harold Heiser and Mr. and Mrs. A. Lund.

"The Wedding of The Painted Doll" was played and sung by Mrs. John Munger, with ten children participating and acting as the bridal group. The bride-to-be received numerous lovely and useful gifts.

Later in the evening, the guests enjoyed refreshments, at a table cleverly decorated with miniature watering cans, to represent a shower. A wedding cake and bridal group was set in the center of the table.

SHERIDAN DOWNEY TO SPEAK IN BAY REGION

Sheridan Downey, who withdrew from the race for governor, and threw his support to Upton Sinclair by announcing his candidacy for the nomination for lieutenant-governor on the Epic ticket, will speak at the Berkeley high school in Berkeley, tonight; at the Lincoln high school in Richmond, Friday, August 10; and in San Francisco, Saturday, August 11.

Downey will explain the Epic plan, and tell how it will preserve our treasured principles of democracy. He will point out how the plan will be an intelligent application of the principles of democracy.

HOME THREATENED BY GRASS FIRE SATURDAY

Niles firemen were summoned to fight the most serious grass fire of the summer Saturday, when a blaze broke out in the grass and brush in an abandoned gravel pit hole behind the Willis residence south of Niles.

Sweeping up the embankment behind the house, the flames threatened a number of outbuildings. More than an hour's strenuous work was necessary to quell the blaze.

Origin of the fire was not definitely known, but firemen are of the opinion that it was unwittingly caused by an itinerant.

The flames were first noticed by Tony Moora, who notified Clarence Crane. The latter turned in the alarm.

THEFT DISCOVERED WHEN RANCHER OPENS HOUSE

Burglars broke into a ranch house on the Shinn property near here sometime during the summer months, and ransacked the place of all valable goods, it was revealed recently, when Lee Sing, Chinese foreman, returned from a stay in San Francisco to resume work with his crew this fall.

The house, which serves as the home of a number of Chinese during the harvest season, is vacant during the early summer. Among the goods stolen were: cans of oil and gasoline, blankets, firearms, a bicycle and considerable food.

One of the workers on the ranch, using the house for a short time this summer, stated that he had noticed prowlers at night, but that no attempt was made to break in while he was there.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bunting and family returned Sunday evening from Dillon's Beach, where they had spent a two-week vacation.

RATTLER INVADES BACK YARD; SLAIN

One of the largest rattlesnakes ever to be seen in this district was killed by Clifford Silveira, of Niles, on the Dewey property in Niles canyon last Tuesday.

The big reptile measured four and one half feet in length and was ten inches around the thickest portion of the body. It had seven rattles and a button.

Silveira, who was changing a tire on his car near the Dewey house, noticed his small dog barking and snapping at something only about fifty feet from the residence, and went over to investigate. The rattler was striking at the dog.

Silveira's plan to save the skin of the snake came to naught when he killed the reptile with a shotgun, ruining the trophy.

ADOBE BRICKS ARE SOURCE OF PLANT KNOWLEDGE

Classification of weeds and plants in California into native and foreign species is a task that has been undertaken by Prof. F. Hendry, research botanist of the University of California, who will carry on his work in and about Washington township for a number of weeks.

It has been discovered that an excellent preservative of seeds and plants fragments is present in California in the form of adobe bricks, and it is these that the professor is seeking here. By dissolving the ancient clay from the material used to hold the brick together, the scientist obtains numerous seeds and plant integuments, which he is able to classify. By dividing the periods of building, and noting from which area adobe bricks are obtained, it is possible to discover when and where a particular foreign species was introduced.

According to Professor Hendry, the periods of adobe building are divided into the Spanish period, dating up to approximately 1830, the Mexican period, from the latter date up to the American possession. It is the Mexican period that will concern the scientist in this district.

The lack of botanical study prior to about 1860, has left the origin of many foreign species here completely in the dark, with the result that the exact species of domesticated grains grown by the padres and by the old Californians were unknown previous to Hendry's investigation. He has classified three types of wheat formerly raised in California.

MORTGAGE AID ACT RESTORES RANCH TO FARMER

First local action under the recently passed Frazier-Lamke Act which gives aid to farmers with mortgages was revealed recently in the case of F. E. Fernandez, of the Half Moon Bay district.

The rancher's farm had been lost through a foreclosure, and his family dispossessed. Fernandez had written a letter to Federal District Judge A. F. St. Sure, whom he knew only by name, asking if anything could be done to prevent foreclosure and keep his family from want. In accordance with the terms of the Frazier-Lemke Act, the judge communicated with T. C. Tucker, chairman of the Farm Debt Committee. Members of the committee found that Fernandez had been dispossessed immediately after writing to the judge, but they had the foreclosure set aside and Fernandez and his family are back on the ranih.

SERIES DEADLOCKED WHEN SAN LEANDRO TAKES SECOND GAME

Final Contest Will Be Played at Irvington Next Sunday

Following last week's wild game, the championship series between Niles and San Leandro became even more interesting Sunday when the San Leandrans evened up the tally with a 5 to 1 victory over the Niles lads, in a well-played contest at San Leandro.

Each with a victory thus far in the series, both aggregations are tightening their collective belt for the final game, to be played Sunday at Irvington.

Ray Duarte, in the box for Niles, had a good day. He gave the Cherry City nine only 9 hits, and walked none. Blacow, Pura and Tony Duarte each hit two for four. Pura shone in center field, where he gathered in a number of fly balls that looked like sure hits. Brown, at second base, did some nice fielding.

In a supreme effort to rescue the fat from the fire in the ninth frame, the Niles team squeezed three men onto the bags. A home run, not a rarity for the local nine, would have tied the score. There was no home run.

CODE WAGE SCALE SPLITS PACKERS AT HEARING

The Pacific coast dried fruit industry submitted its proposed code of fair competition to the recovery administration at Washington Saturday, and after a brief formal hearing it was sent to conferences for the purpose of ironing out objections.

While the labor advisor of the hearing board suggested provisions of the code were deficient in that no arrangement was made for paying overtime in certain cases, the main objection to the proposal came from the northwest dried fruit association, which said that Oregon, Washington and Idaho packers could not afford to pay the minimum wages suggested.

The code was sponsored by the dried fruit association of California and the northwest dried fruit association. While the latter opposed the wage provisions, it did not withdraw as a proponent of the other provisions.

The wage proposals made in the code would mean an increase of about 16 per cent in the compensation of the men and about 33 per cent in that of the women workers.

Flames Damage Railroad Ties Tuesday Afternoon

Slight damage was done to railroad property south of Niles Tuesday afternoon, when a grass blaze, fanned by a brisk wind, swept along the tracks on the curve of the Dumbarton line.

The flames were noticed by Mrs. Frank Fields, who phoned to rail officials here. The Niles fire department rushed to the scene, and quenched the advancing line of fire.

Railroad section crews were called to replace a number of charred ties.

SHAKE 'EM UP AND SHAKE 'EM OUT

Aside from the law profession, few people have known that it has been the practice of attaches of the attorney general's office, if not in fact the attorney general himself, to accept private practice while drawing handsome salaries from the state of California. It is just another example of the condition of our government—a reflection of our political and personal morals,—personal as well as political morals because we, the people, by indifference countenance dishonesty in the administration of our public business.

In one year, it is said, the state has paid as much as $150,000 to lawyers, not connected with the attorney general's office, to look after legal matters that are "crowding" the department's calendar. While staff members were looking after lucrative private practice, and being paid by the state to look after the state's business, outside lawyers were being put on the payroll to handle the legal matters that the department had no inclination to look after because it interferred with the side money its members were picking up in Sacramento and elsewhere.

To the average person this is inconceivable. But it is true, nevertheless. It is one of the reasons that we want less, not more, government in business. It is one reason why you find it difficult or impossible to pay your taxes, why your lands are being foreclosed, why legitimate and honest business is gasping for breath.

What are we going to do about it? Well, in the first place, let us individually absorb the fundamental principles of personal honesty. Maybe if we get right with ourselves, we will demand that public officials get decent, too. A little courage wouldn't hurt us, either—courage to fight for our rights—courage to demand that our public servants be in fact our servants, not arrogant and overbearing masters—courage to cut down corruption wherever found, courage to accept the alleged stigma of being referred to as a radical, even a Communist because we will not remain silent while spat upon by vicious monopoly. Crooks, who have no other weapon with which to fight an aroused public opinion, generally resort to branding those exposing their dishonorable practices as trouble-makers and agitators.

Let us have a change in the attorney general's office. Let us put some new man in that office. A new set-up clear down the line will do the state a mighty lot of good. A complete clean-up of the state organization may eliminate the odium of Rolphism, that for almost four years had made decent people of California hang their heads in shame.

Moore Challenges Carter In Congressional Contest

Hon. Albert E. Carter, M. C.,
Hotel Oakland,
Oakland, California.
Dear Mr. Carter:

You and I are candidates for the Democratic nomination for Congress for the Sixth District. This nomination, in my opinion, carries with it the obligation of service to the Democratic party, and support of the President in the next Congress. I am sure that the Democratic voters of the Sixth District will wish to know that their nominee for Congress will, if elected, discharge this party obligation consistent with the Democratic platform and program, and will do his utmost to insure the re-election of Mr. Roosevelt in 1936. It is my belief that you do not intend to pursue this course if re-elected. I therefore respectfully invite you to meet me in joint discussion at different points in the Sixth District, at which meetings we will speak to the following Resolution;

"RESOLVED, that the Democratic program in Congress, and President Roosevelt's probable candidacy for re-election in 1936, would be injured by giving the Democratic nomination for Congress to Republican Congressman Albert E. Carter."

I will take the affirmative in these debates; You the negative. If you prefer you may appoint one, or more, of your Republican supporters to appear in your stead.

Sincerely yours,
AVERY C. MOORE

LODI YOUTH DIES IN AUTO CRASH AT SUNOL

Skidding into the gravel at the roadside when he fell asleep at the wheel of his car last Wednesday night at about 8:45 o'clock on the Sunol-Pleasanton highway, Edward Schaffer, 19, was killed and three companions injured.

Schaffer's machine hurtled over against an embankment when he awoke to find the car edging off the road, and jerked on the emergency brake.

Henry Schaffer, brother of the crash victim, Eli Siedle and Arthur Popat, passengers, were all extensively cut and bruised. They were all rushed to the office of Dr. Grimmer, in Irvington, for first aid treatment.

The body of Schaffer was taken to the Chapel of Palms, Centerbille, from which place it was removed to Lodi. The boys were all residents of El Campo, in the Lodi district.

Verdict of a coroner's jury, at an inquest held on Schaffer's death Tuesday morning, was that the crash had been unaboidable. The inquest wa sat the office of Deputy Coroner F. F. Botelho, at the Chapel of Palms, Centerville.

Rotation Plan to Foil Chinch Bugs

Locate Legume Crops So as to Isolate Small Grain, Corn and Grass.

By A. L. Lang, Asst. Chief of Soil Experiment Fields, University of Illinois.—WNU Service.

Threatened with the heaviest chinch bug infestation ever recorded in the history of the state, Illinois farmers should consider revising their rotations as a means of partially protecting their 1934 corn crop.

By this is meant the location of legume crops in the rotation so as to isolate the small grain, corn and grass fields where the chinch bugs are prone to breed and feed. It has been proved that legumes are distasteful to this insect pest, and separating the bug's "favorite" crops with legumes is suggested as one of several control measures. Furthermore, the addition of one or more legumes will improve the fertility of the land on which they are grown.

A five-year rotation supplying this dual purpose may consist of corn, oats, clover, corn and soybeans. In this case, not only is 60 per cent of the farm in legumes, but 80 per cent is in cash crops. One crop of corn is completely set off between two legumes, which in many cases will prevent serious damage from chinch bugs. The fact that the oats field will have a spring seeding of clover may deter rapid multiplication of the insects in this crop, if the clover gets a strong, early start.

When wheat is grown with a maximum of corn, a rotation of corn, corn, beans, wheat and clover can be planned. An important feature of this combination is that the small grain crop, which is always the early breeding ground of the chinch bug, is isolated from the corn crops by a legume on either side. With a good, growthy spring seeding of clover in the wheat, this crop is not susceptible to the bugs.

Where a four-year rotation of corn, oats, wheat and clover is followed, a protective revision would be to substitute soybeans for the oats. This would carry the isolation advantages of the wheat rotation above and, with a good stand of clover in the wheat, would keep 75 per cent of the land in legumes throughout the growing season.

New Strains of Alfalfa Culture Being Developed

Three strains of alfalfa nodule bacteria, capable of fixing more nitrogen and producing a somewhat greener color in the leaves of the alfalfa plant, have been added to the stock from which the Wisconsin college of agriculture is preparing its alfalfa seed cultures.

These strains, recorded in the laboratory as pedigree numbers 107-1, 109, and 113, were carefully tested in greenhouse trials last winter when they proved to fix more nitrogen and to stimulate the production of higher yields of hay than most other strains tested.

Inoculation tests in these greenhouses show that while most root nodule cultures found in the soil of fields which have grown legumes are helpful to the plant, some are less beneficial or even actually harmful. Before any strain of inoculating bacteria is used for the preparation of culture in the laboratories of the university agricultural college, it must first have proved to be beneficial as shown by greenhouse and field tests.

Fertilizers in Ohio

Fertilizers used by Ohio farmers in 1933 amounted to 208,869 tons, according to the annual report of fertilizer sales in the state released by the agronomy department of the Ohio State university. This is 23.4 per cent more fertilizer than was used in 1932, most of the gain occurring in the fall when fertilizers were purchased principally for wheat. The fall tonnage was 40 per cent above that of the previous year, according to the Ohio Farmer.

Shortage of Food in Early Pasture

Impossible for Dairy Herd to Get Enough to Hold Weight, Strength.

By John A. Arey, Extension Dairy Specialist, North Carolina State College.—WNU Service.

It is false economy to make cattle depend entirely on pasturage for roughage at this season of the year. Yet many dairymen are inclined to do so on account of the usual shortage of rough feeds in the spring. The belief seems prevalent that young grass will supply a sufficient amount of nourishment for the cattle.

Immature grass is about 90 per cent water, and it is physically impossible for cattle to eat enough of it to maintain their bodyweight and strength and produce a profitable milk flow.

Such practices are also liable to result in the cows eating weeds, wild onions, and buds in an effort to get a sufficient ration. When they do this, their milk is unpalatable and not good for drinking or butter making.

Dry roughage provides the bulk feed needed and also much nourishment that is essential to constant and profitable milk production.

Another factor in heavy grazing of young pastures is the damage done to the sod by extensive tramping and grazing before the soil has dried out. The result will be a greatly curtailed yield later in the year.

Temporary grazing can be provided by such grazing and soiling crops as cereals sown in the fall. Later in the summer, when permanent pastures are in good condition, the cows can gradually be introduced to a more substantial green diet. However, a grain ratton is needed at all times.

Pasture Seeding for 3-A Contract Acres Suggested

More Illinois land will be seeded to grass during the next two years than ever before in the history of the state, prophesies H. P. Rusk, head of the animal husbandry department of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

This "back-to-grass" movement is spreading throughout the state as a result of the government's corn-hog and wheat adjustment programs in which some 2,000,000 acres of land will be taken out of crop production by co-operating Illinois farmers.

A large percentage of this former wheat and corn land will be seeded to permanent or semi-permanent pastures for live stock and many Illinois producers are wondering what grass seeds or mixtures of seeds should be used.

For early live stock carrying capacity of permanent pastures, all records at the University of Illinois were broken by a heavy seeding consisting of 12.3 pounds of bluegrass, 2.5 pounds of red clover, 2.5 pounds of sweet clover, 4.1 pounds of timothy, 1.6 pounds of alsike clover and .4 pounds of white clover. This mixture may be used for seeding contracted acres, without violation of the AAA corn-hog contract, provided it is in addition to the average acreage devoted to pasture in 1932 and 1933 and is not pastured in 1934.

Velvet Beans Are Good for Forage

Dairy Farmer Finds They Produce Well Planted With Corn Crop.

By Enos C. Blair, Agronomist North Carolina State College of Agriculture.—WNU Service.

Velvet beans planted with corn is an excellent winter dairy forage. This is the experience of a North Carolina farmer who operates a small dairy. Last year he planted 25 acres of rather light, sandy land to corn and velvet beans. The dry weather of the summer damaged the corn but the beans made rank growth. In August, the tropical storms blew the corn down so that by fall the bean growth had covered the corn entirely. Little grain was harvested.

But the farmer turned this apparent misfortune into good account. About November 1 he turned his 22 cows into the field and the beans with what was left of the corn provided sufficient feed to keep the cows in heavy milk flow throughout the winter. No other feed was given the animals except during a few cold days when they could not be turned into an open field. The cows were kept on the beans until about March 15, without other feed except that mentioned. On March 15 he began feeding hay.

With the extra hay the cows were kept on the bean field until time for spring plowing.

At that time there was still a large quantity of bean vines to be turned under.

As a result of this experience he says that velvet beans furnish a cheap and satisfactory forage. He expects to have about 25 acres available for his cows every winter now.

Urges Liberal Feeding for the Sows With Pigs

Producing milk for hungry pigs is the hardest work the brood sow does, as shown by her loss in weight of from 25 to 40 pounds, says E. F. Ferrin, swine husbandman, University of Minnesota farm. Feeds for milk production need to be high in protein and minerals because of the large amount of these nutrients in milk, but corn also is important for its high energy value. Corn is usually the cheapest grain and should be fed liberally, if care is used to supply other feeds furnishing protein and minerals.

Pasture is one of the best stimulants for milk production. Before the grazing season begins, green leafy alfalfa hay is a good substitute. Skimmilk has always been a favorite for the sow and growing pigs, especially when combined with shorts or middlings as slop. Buttermilk has the same feeding value as skimmilk, but day to day changes in the acidity of the buttermilk will scour the pigs, especially in damp, rainy weather. Tankage and oilmeal are needed unless considerable milk is fed.

Self-feeding the sow and pigs is both logical and economical. Self-feeding can be begun when the pigs are about three weeks old, if they are in lots or on pasture where they get exercise. Shelled corn and wheat middlings are the common feeds, plus tankage or a protein mixture.

Algiers, the capital of the French Province of Algeria, was from the Fourteenth century to the Nineteenth the headquarters of the Barbary pirates, who were the terror of the seas until 1830. They exacted toll from ships of all nations, not only cargo and gold, but human beings. These pirates are credited with having captured 3,000 ships and 600,000 Christians. The city is composed of two parts—French Algiers, as gay and modern as Paris itself, and the contrasting Arab quarters with its tall, windowless houses and narrow, congested streets.

So necessary is the service that bees render to the fruit growers of New York state that 600 colonies of them were imported last year to aid in pollenization in Niagara county alone, and in other counties throughout the fruit-growing region growers are renting colonies of bees for the purpose. Not only do bees produce a $2,000,000 honey crop annually in New York state but they pollenate more than one-third of the $15,000,000 apple crop as well.

Delhi, capital of India, was, in the Seventeenth century, the most magnificent city in the world.

Russia's Ancient Inhabitants

Considerable attention has been given the interior of Asia as the possible birthplace of man. Traces of ancient roads and trails as well as finding of crude implements of man indicate that he may have lived there prior to ancient Rome and later migrated elsewhere. There is evidence that some of these people followed a northern course through Russian territory and across Siberia into oblivion. They may have crossed to the American mainland by water, however, or by an overland passage believed to have once existed. This happened a few million years ago and a close study of this Siberian trail has never been made.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Moisture in Grass, Plants

The average small suburban lawn transpires from 10 to 15 gallons of water daily into the air. In this way it moistens the air and makes it more fit for human breathing. In that same connection, sunflower plants have been known to transpire a quart of water daily. Plants absorb water from the ground and then pass it on to the air through the process of transpiration after the individual requirements of the plants have been taken care of.

When Insects Fast

The bureau of entomology says there are many insects that normally never feed or drink in the imago state, although many of these are capable of doing so. Most insects feed in their larval stage, the imaginal form being mainly for reproduction. The insects that live for only a few days or weeks rarely feed in the adult stage.

Material in Roman Coliseum

The Roman Coliseum was made of large blocks of travertine. The inner walls were of concrete, with and without brick facing. They were strengthened by piers of peperino and travertine at points of greatest pressure. The pediment, columns and seats were of marble. The Coliseum had no roof.

First Use of Razors

Razors were in use at a very early period and known to the people of Egypt. They used a primitive form of razor, in many cases merely a sharpened flint. The first safety razor was made by Michael Hunter of Sheffield, England, in 1875.

Aided West Point

It was under the teachings of Col. Jared Mansfield (the surveyor of the town in Richland county, Ohio, that bears his name) that the famous military school at West Point got its start in the beginning years of the last century.

Rice an Aquatic Crop

Rice is normally an aquatic crop and flooding of the ground in which it is planted is a part of the cultural procedure in growing it. Likewise, it is a crop which has a definite indifference to alkaline soil conditions.

Reveals Character of Birds

When placed before a mirror, birds and animals show up their characters interestingly, reacting with rage, jealousy, friendliness, or curiosity as their dispositions decree.

VIGILANTES MAY MAKE UNIT STILL MORE EFFECTIVE

Welding of the Niles Vigilante Committee, formed immediately after the general strike several weeks ago, into a more cohesive and mobile unit, was the general subject at a meeting held Friday night in the Niles courthouse.

F. Hunter, of the district attorney's office, spoke to those assembled on the need of founding units that can be strictly relied upon in case of emergency, and that will not get out of control to the point where rash and unpremeditated acts result.

Inasmuch as Friday's meet was the first since the organization meeting several weks ago, it is thought that a change in the nature of the group might be made to suit the needs of a permanent law and order unit. No action has been taken as yet to effect the changes, it is said.

EX-POSTMASTER GUEST OF HONOR AT BANQUET

Mrs. A. Santos Is Praised for Years of Fine Postal Service

More than eighty guests were on hand at the El Lido n Centervlle last Thursday night, to honor Mrs. Adeline Santos, retiring postmaster, at a testimonial dinner sponsored by the Lions Club and the Centerville Chamber of Commerce.

The dinner had been suggested by Frank Dusterberry, chamber president, as a means of showing the town's appreciation of Mrs. Santos's many years' of flawless service. Dusterberry, as master of ceremonies, officially thanked Lydia, as he affectionately called Mrs. Santos. As postmaster in Centervlle some forty years ago, Dusterberry is familiar with postal duties. He praised the ex-postmaster's quality of work.

Judge Allen G. Norris undertook to tell of the history of the postoffice during the many years in which Mrs. Santos served. He told of the rise of the office from fourth class to third, with a second class rating pending at the present time. Norris recounted how Mrs. Santos attained the postmastership, after twelve years as assistant to F. T. Hawes, when the latter was forced to retire because of illness. That was in 1926.

Visibly touched by the ovation she received, Mrs. Santos thanked the assemblage, and stated that the years of her service, together with the kindness of her friends, would be one of her happiest memories.

M. W. Lewis, new postal appointee, who took over the reins recently, pledged a continuance of the quality of service maintained by Mrs. Santos. He attributed the smooth transfer of duties to the ex-postmaster. His appointment will be confirmed later in the year.

Supervisor Ralph V. Richmond, a guest at the dinner, told of the appointment of Mrs. Santos in 1926, when he, Judge John Mattos and Frank Dusterberry were called to the bedside of Postmaster Hawes, who asked that his resignation be accepted, and that his assistant, Mrs. Santos, succeed him. Recommendations for Mrs. Santos and the resignation of Hawes were mailed simultaneously to the congressman of this district. The appointment was made by the then president Coolidge.

Joe Jason, Lion head, and Frank Madruga, past president, complimented the ex-postmaster.

Milton Dohner, of Hayward, brought greetings to Mrs. Santos from that city. He introduced John Hooper, Hayward Review publisher.

Chick Santos, husband of the retired postal official, was called upon to speak. His remarks were apt. He said that he has enjoyed the incumbency of his wife.

A musical entertainment was enjoyed. Vocal and instrumental selections were played by the following local artists: Misses Arwina and Dorothea Ormsby, Miss Estelle Martenstein and Mrs. R. B. Boyer, and Oliver Campos and Maury Silva.

Danville Woman Taken By Death Saturday

Mrs. Delphina Xavier, formerly known in this district, was summoned by death at her Danville home Thursday after a long period of illness.

She is survived by her son, John A. Xavier. Funeral, under direction of the Chapel of Palms, was held at Danville Saturday. Services were conducted at the Danville Catholic church. Interment was in the Concord cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Salz returned recently from a vacation spent at Carmel.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS AIM AT PRIZE IN COSTUME FETE

Winners of the first prize for the most distinctive costumes and colors at San Francisco five years ago, the Betsy Ross parlor of the Native Daughters are planning to repeat this year at the state fair celebration, slated for Sacramento on September 8, 9, and 10 Decision to enter the competition this year was made at the last meeting of the local group.

The costumes will be reminiscent of the early American period, and will be of striking contrasting colors.

The Native Daughters will be accompanied by members of the local parlor of the Native Sons.

WRECKERS BUSY ON CENTERVILLE'S OLD TOWN HALL

Centerville's old town hall, recently sold to Tony Silva, has lost its recognizable features and is rapidly assuming the likeness of a huge skeleton. Only the joists, beams and rafters remain.

One of the stipulations of the Ladies' Town Hall Association, to which the building formerly belonged, was that the lot would be cleared within ninety days after the day of the sale. Silva is wasting no time.

The old building, constructed in 1860, had long been a social hub of Washington township.

CENTERVILLE LIONS TO BE HOSTS AT JOINT MEET

The largest and most important meeting of the Centerville Lions Club to be held this year will be at the El Lido Tuesday night, when the local organization will be host to Lions Clubs from Pleasanton, Livermore and Hayward. The visiting clubs will have charge of the program, which members of the Lions here say will be an excellent one.

Eager to build up his organization even higher in the state ranking, Lion President Joe Jason, avers that a number of new members will be taken into the group at the big meet. Since his inauguration into office a short time ago, Jason has proved himself to be an excellent successor to Chick Santos, under whose administration the Township Fair materialized.

Among the highlights of the meeting will be the address of the evening by the district governor. There will be music and entertainment.

GARINS TRIMMED BY RAMOS NINE, 11-2 SUNDAY

Guarding their box score, and admitting numerous errors, the Centerville Garintees lost to the Ramos Real estate team, of Hayward, Sunday, by the long tune of 11 to 2.

The sole highlight of the day for the local nine was when Joe Lemos, catcher, picked out a nice one with one man on base, and pounded out a home run.

The Garintees will play their final game of the current season a week from Sunday, when they will travel to Salinas to meet the Garin branch team there. Following the game, the Centerville aggregation will mothball their suits for a number of months.

JOINT INSTALLATION TOMORROW NIGHT FOR SONS, DAUGHTERS

First Double Rites In Five Years For Local Golden West Parlors

For the first time in five years, the Washington Parlor of the Native Sons and the Betsy Ross Parlor of the Native Daughters of the Golden West will gather at the Country Club tomorrow night for a huge joint public installation.

It is hoped sufficient public interest is aroused in the occasion, to fill the large hall to capacity. Arrangements have been made to accommodate many. There will be dancing after, and refreshments will be served.

R. Leonard, installing officer of the Eden Parlor, of Hayward, will be installing officer for the Sons. Dora Brayton, supervising district deputy grand president of Alameda county will seat the Native Daughters.

Grand secretary Sally Thaler, of the N. D. G. W., will present the past president's jewel to Alfreda Clark.

New officers of the Native Sons to be seated tomorrow are: Maxwell Stevenson, president; Charles Cockefair, first vice president; Harry Stevenson, second vice president; E. J. Pimentel, third vice president; G. I. Norris, marshal; Allen G. Norris, recording secretary; M. P. Mathiesen, financial secretary; J. D. Norris, treasurer; Ed. Silva, inside sentinel; Lester Nunes, outside sentinel; trustee, Frank Dusterberry; Tom Silva, past president.

Officers of the Betsy Ross Parlor of Native Daughters are: Irma Kirk, president; Marie White, first vice president; Roumelda Rose, second vice president, Evelyn Garcia, third vice president; Constance Lucio, recording secretary; Rose Peixotto, financial secretary; Lucy Day, treasurer; Matilda Enos, marshal; Anna Rose, inside sentinel; Alice Simas, outside sentinel; May Alameda and Irene Fields, trustees; Alfreda Clark, organist; Agnes Silva, past president.

FORMER LOCAL BOY BADLY HURT IN TRAIN CRASH

Thrown from his automobile when it was struck by a train at the Wayne station crossing south of Milpitas early Friday morning, Vernon Miller Silveira, former Centerville boy, is in a grave condition at the O'Connor sanitarium at San Jose.

The accident is said to have occured when Silveira, who now lives with his parents in Milpitas, was on his way to work in San Jose. Inasmuch as the tracks are fairly visible in either direction the cause of the crash is unknown. According to reports, the boy's machine was demolished.

The victim was rushed to the San Jose hospital, where first aid was administered. He was later transferred to the O'Connor sanitarium.

Haystack Consumed By Flames Late Tuesday

Attributed to spontaneous combustion, a blaze broke out in a large stack of new hay on the Heath dairy Tuesday afternoon. The Centerville fire department answered the alarm, but finding the stack isolated and to the lee of the farm buildings, made no attempt to quell the flames, which were far beyond control. The smoke-eaters remained nearby, however, in case a shift of wind should endanger any of the nearby barns.

Mrs. Morgan Davies and daughter, of Alameda, have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Garret Norris.

Congregational Church News

The pastor has chosen a timely subject for his Sunday morning sermon: "Optimism in a Time of Calamity," is the title, and the matter is so treated as to trace the affect of other and ancient world-depressions on human beings. The text is based on the well known, "I, If I Be Lifted Up, Will Draw All Men Unto Me." There will be profit and enjoyment in this service, for all who wish to worship with us.

We have every reason to be encouraged about our little radio plays. The response has been generous from listeners. Our next presentation will be Sunday, August 12, at 4:15. It is based on the parable of The Rich Fool, found in St. Luke. This drama is different. Tragic, perhaps, but just and satisfying as it ends. The action takes place on the farm of the Rich Fool in Galilee, on a slight elevation overlooking the grain fields of the Rich Fool. Nearby are the building of the rich and selfish owner, including the miserable huts of the workers.

Those in the cast as you will first hear them are: Cleo, a woman gleaner, Barbara Straub; The Rich Fool, Wesley Dexter Gordon; Zentor, the head servant of the harvest, Clark A. Griffin; and Marsul, the overseer of the threshing-floor, Ted Dundas.

Tree Destroyer Tears More Limbs In Niles

Niles' tree vandal, whoever he may be, set to work on another tree on the main street sometime last week. This time he did not make quite the progress he did last time. He only tore off two large limbs and tossed them over the fence into the railroad property.

First damage attributed to this wretch, was done to a small tree directly in front of the Nelson ice house. Fred Nelson had planted the tree himself, to match up the frontage of his property with the rest of First street. The damage last week was to another and larger tree, across the street from the stage depot.

It will be a sorry vandal if he is caught at his work of destruction.

Niles Man Will Leave For Washington Friday

Russell Ross, of Niles, plans to leave Niles tomorrow night on the first leg of a trip to Yakima Valley, Washington, where he will spend two weeks visiting with his parents and sister.

Ross stated that the visit will be the first for him in ten years. He will be accompanied on the trip by acquaintances from Fresno, who will meet him here tomorrow. Ross will bring back his son when he returns. The boy has been vacationing with his grandparents.

Ross is employed by the Pacific Gas and Electric company here.

Edison's First Invention

At Boston young Thomas Edison developed his first (and from the practical standpoint, completely unsuccessful) invention—a vote recorder, whereby each member of a legislative body could register his vote by means of a switch on his desk. With visions of a small fortune, the youthful inventor took the model to Washington where he demonstrated it before the chairman of committees, who told him it was exactly what they didn't want, because it eliminated delays and filibustering, the very methods some legislators didn't want to see eliminated.

Nearly 13,000 acres of farm land, owned by Indians of the Wiowa reservation in Oklahoma, have been terraced in a soil conservation program.

Discovery of Europe

Asia discovered Europe long before Europe discovered Asia.

Seed Heat Sterilized

Experiments carried on last year have proven the feasibility of sterilizing seed by a hot-water treatment which kills many of the disease germs of the plant yet leaves the seed unaffected so far as germination is concerned. The tests were carried on with cabbage seed with water at a temperature of 125 degrees used. The seed was held submerged in the water for 25 minutes and found to be freed, as a result, of many of the more common ills of the cabbage.

Legume Seed Shortage

With over 30,000,000 acres of cotton, wheat, corn, rice and tobacco land either taken out or to be taken out of production this year, it is evident that a tremendous demand for legume seed will develop next spring. As a matter of fact, it will be impossible for all this idle land to be seeded to legumes and hay crops, since our estimated available seed supply is not large enough. This will undoubtedly mean a material rise in seed prices. — Wallaces' Farmer.

In the Windrows

Hybrid corns are practically free of barren stalks.

Depression Hits Santa Monica PELICANS

There's a story that comes out of Southern California. It's about the pelicans of Santa Monica Bay and these pelicans remind us of a lot of us human beings. The experience teaches us that more and better sales effort is required of every last one of us.

For years these pelicans had been fed by fishermen from their surplus catch, until they got the habit of eating without work.

This year high seas changing currents off Santa Monica cut down the catch, and fishermen no longer had any fish to spare. They noticed that the pelicans languished and grew thin and it dawned on them that they had forgotten how to fish for themselves. So they went down the coast and found some unpampered pelicans who had never been ruined by easy living and free fish. They turned them loose among the starving birds, who sat about on the beach and complained of hard times.

The way those imported pelicans went out after their own fish was an eye-opener. Pretty soon the hungry natives quit watching and tried it themselves. They discovered there are plenty of fish in the sea for the bird with energy and enterprise. And they've quit talking about the hard times."

HUNTERS REFUTE RUMORS OF POOR DEER SEASON

In spite of official opinion that deer would be scarce this year, Niles hunters have been having better than average luck so far. Seven deer were brought in to the town the first week, which establishes a better record than last season at the same time.

Louis Lewis, genial laundryman, took the honor of bagging the first critter this time. He was back in Niles with it at eight o'clock last Wednesday morning.

C. Johnson wins the medal for the largest buck so far. His tipped the beam at 116 pounds. Herman Bettencourt bagged a stag, and thus garners the prize for the best set of horns.

Other nimrods who have been successful are: Ray Compton, Frank Vargas, Frank Calhoun, Joe De Lago and Tony Sanchez.

ART, CRAFTS GUILD WILL MEET MONDAY AT MYERS HOME

The first regular monthly meeting of the Arts and Crafts Guild of Washington Township will be held next Monday evening at the Canyon home of Nell Farrington Myers. All charter members, prospective members, and invited friends are cordially expected to be present. Vacation time is past and the guild, under the general direction of Wesley Gordon, assisted by the several chairmen of the various auxiliary branches, will "dive" into an intensive program of creative activity. Those who have not been invited to attend one of the meetings are urged to attend. Any individual in the community who feels that he has talent for any of the several arts, and who wishes to do better, and more regular work, will be welcomed into the organization, Gordon said. The time is 7:30 o'clock.

TO MAKE THESE SAVINGS ON GAS HEATING EQUIPMENT

SUMMER will soon be gone. Soon fickle fall with a sudden drop in temperature will be here. If you have an old-fashioned heating system this means getting back to the routine of ordering, storing and handling fuel and constant fire tending. And even then perhaps, never getting your house really warm.

Why not stop all this right now and save money? Change to the carefree comfort of Natural Gas heating. By automatic thermostat, by three-heat control or by turning a key you can keep your house at desired, healthful temperature no matter how changeable the weather may be.

Go ahead—make the change now. Why delay when it is so easy to pay for gas heating equipment at this time? It takes only a few hours, for example, to install a Natural Gas burner in your present furnace. Floor furnaces or circulating heaters and other gas heating appliances are likewise quickly and easily installed. Then you and your family are ready to enjoy the convenience of clean, carefree, healthful heating this fall and winter and many winters to come.

Remember, the special 10% Summer Discount on gas heating equipment ends this month. Why not go ahead and order your Natural Gas heating installed today?
